

FALL OF BRITAIN WITHIN 60 DAYS POSSIBLE: KNOX

Naval Secretary Tells Committee Huge Army Need of America

BULLETIN
Washington, Aug. 14—(AP)—Defense Commissioner William S. Knudsen advised Congress today that an army of 2,000,000 could be placed in the field fully equipped by Oct. 1, 1943.

Knudsen's opinion was given in a memorandum to the House ways and means committee and followed a question several days ago by Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) as to how long it would take to put such a force in the field.

Washington, Aug. 14—(AP)—Secretary Knox declared today that the United States, lacking a two-ocean navy, needs a "huge army," and he urged that one be created by conscription.

Should England be defeated by Germany, he said, "we will be left without a friend in the world." He expressed the opinion that such a defeat in 60 days was possible.

The navy secretary appeared before the House military committee in support of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory service bill, on which the Senate undertook its fourth day of debate.

At the White House, President Roosevelt and congressional leaders went over the legislative slate, consisting chiefly of defense bills. After the conference, Democratic Leader Barkley predicted the Senate would act on the Burke-Wadsworth measure some time next week. Others at the meeting were Speaker Bankhead and Democratic Leader Rayburn of the House.

At the Capitol, Senator Byrnes (D-SC) said Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, had asked a Senate appropriations sub-committee to increase by $47,000,000 the funds which would go to the navy in a pending $4,963,000,000 appropriation bill. The increase would be used for armament for fighting planes and for aviation maintenance.

Knox Sees "Crisis"
Before the House committee Knox asserted that the nation faces a "very grave crisis."

None in this country can tell the trend of the battle for Britain, he said, because information from belligerents comes through officially controlled communiques.

"This fight over England," Knox said, "we're not getting the whole truth about it. We don't really know what the extent of British losses are."

Of United States preparedness, the secretary testified that "before the collapse of France" he had declared that an army of 300,000 men and a two-ocean navy should be adequate protection. Today he revised this, explaining "that was before the collapse of France—what I may have said about a land force then does not apply."

"If we had a 3,000,000 ton navy," Knox continued, "We'd unquestionably control the Atlantic and Pacific oceans and we'd not be under the necessity of having a huge army. But we haven't got that navy and won't have it completed until 1946."

Danger Not Immediate
Knox said he did not anticipate the likelihood of early attack across the Atlantic.

"I think the greatest danger is not immediate," he declared. "After watching the Hitler-Nazi crowd, I'm pretty well convinced that if England falls, we would be in no immediate danger of attack but it would be worse than if we were."

There would be, he said, "a gesture of friendship" to "calm our fears in the hope that it would interrupt measures of preparedness we have taken."

Ten senators, thus far non-committal, were reported today to hold the fate of opposition efforts to compel a substantial modification of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training bill.

The show-down will come on the compromise proposal of Senator Maloney (D-Conn) to defer conscription until it was proven that voluntary enlistments could not produce the necessary army manpower by January 1.

Up to Ten Senators
At the opening of the fourth day of the draft bill debate, administration leaders disclosed that an informal canvass had shown that, with the exception of the 10 uncommitted legislators, the Senate was almost evenly divided on the Maloney proposal.

The leaders said there was a margin of "two or three" votes against the Maloney measure among those senators whose views were known. They conceded the result would be "close" in any event, and were not optimistic.

Uproar

Manhattan, Ill., Aug. 14—(AP)—Farmer Howard Kurkham, 42, was spending a comfortable evening reading, occasionally munching a piece of candy from a box at his chairside.

He unwrapped one tin-foil-covered piece, glanced at it absent-mindedly, thought it looked like a tasty gumdrop and bit hard.

Then bang! Something exploded right in his mouth. It ploded right in his mouth. It ploded right in his mouth. It ploded right in his mouth.

Dr. George Brannon said Kurkham had a badly lacerated cheek but was recovering today. Fortunately, the torpedo seemed to have exploded outward instead of inward.

Apple Crop 5,000,000 Bushels Below 1939's

Pittsburgh, Aug. 14—(AP)—Growers and shippers will have 85,000,000 bushels of apples to distribute this year, or 5,000,000 bushels less than last year's crop, it was announced today at the 45th annual convention of the International Apple Association.

Shippers said the 1939 crop was "cleaned up" despite loss of European markets, although the government had to do considerable purchasing to surplus apples.

Lightning Fatal to Farmer, Son, Mules

Columbia, Ill., Aug. 14—(AP)—Louis Brandt, 53, and his son, Carlisle Brandt, 20, were killed by lightning while eating their lunch in a machine shed on a farm near here yesterday. Their bodies were found last night.

A physician said their deaths were caused by lightning. The elder Brandt held a partly eaten sandwich in his hand.

Two mules the men had been using in plowing also were found dead in the shed.

60,000 Troops Poised for "Battle of Wisconsin"; Gen. Ford Commands

Camp McCoy, Wis., Aug. 14—(AP)—Mobilization complete, about 60,000 regular army and National Guard troops of the second army area were poised today for the make-believe "Battle of Wisconsin."

Everything was in order for the start of three weeks of extensive training. The last convoys pulled into camp yesterday as Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, commanding general of the Second Army, gave instructions to more than 3,000 officers and non-commissioned officers.

An autogiro hovered above the speaker's platform as General Ford addressed his commanders and dropped the message: "Inbound movement completed."

The officers were guests of the Fifth Division, regular army, at Shamrock today to watch a demonstration of a streamlined division occupying a defense position.

"There should be less discussion concerning the superiority of any one power—air power, sea power, or land power," General Ford declared. "All power contributes to the final result, but as always, the final decision will come on the land where man himself lives."

FEAR TENNESSEE FLOOD TOLL MAY BE 15 TO 20 DEAD

Flash Flood Hits City While Its Citizens are Sleeping

Elizabeth, Tenn., Aug. 14—(AP)—The swiftly-falling Watauga river yielded two bodies today while fear persisted that a score more died in last night's flash flood.

Shoved along by 24 hours of rain, the river rose 20 feet from nightfall to midnight and engulfed the Rio Vista residential section where 200 to 300 persons lived.

Scores fled to nearby hills or clambered to rooftops and into trees before the water's swift invasion. Most of the latter had been removed by rescue boats by late morning but it still was impossible to determine if others had been caught in their sleep and drowned.

Said Deputy Sheriff Mike Boatwright:

Fears Score Dead
"From what I have seen and heard, I am convinced that 15 or 20 persons were drowned."

Only bodies found along the debris-strewn banks were those of Mrs. Bob Shell, 54-year-old mother of seven, and Fieling Clawson, 64, a farmer. Mrs. Shell died when an automobile was swept into the river, along with five or six houses of the Rio Vista community.

The deepest-flooded area was not far from the rayon mills of the American Bemberg Corporation and the North American Rayon Corporation, which are the industrial hub of this city of 10,000.

Power plants of both factories were flooded and work was suspended while employees aided in rescue work or searched for missing relatives and friends.

Salute to Dixon to Be Broadcast Late in Evening

Radio listeners of Dixon and vicinity will have an opportunity of hearing a broadcast salute to Dixon this evening, which will be broadcast over station WIND at 5:50 kilocycles between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock. The program is to be presented during a program sponsored by a brewing company of Chicago.

Advance notice of the salute to Dixon, Ill., classes this city as "a city of homes, hospitality and wide awake business enterprises. Dixon is located at the heart of two famous railroad crossings, the Illinois Central and the Chicago & NorthWestern.

"Early settlers were imbued with a sense of honesty, integrity, patriotism and vision, and the story of Dixon's development is replete with historical data. Dixon's stolid past is the foundation for far-sighted progress, and its citizens are alert to all possibilities of community betterment."

"A splendidly functioning park board has substituted parks and landscaping effect for unsightly buildings along the Rock River front, and spacious free parking areas within one block from the bustling business section. Recent local improvements include a modern four-lane cement and steel bridge spanning Rock river."

"Dixon is proud to have the only daily newspaper in the immediate counties, the Dixon Evening Telegraph which has been in existence since 1851. Dixon citizens feel that cities do not just happen—cooperation builds them. Yes, Dixon did, Dixon does, and Dixon will."

Chicago Fisherman is Drowned in Wisconsin

Rhineland, Wis., Aug. 14—(AP)—George J. Tolman, 38, of Chicago drowned in Clearwater Lake, Oneida county, when his canoe overturned yesterday while he was fishing.

Ashton Methodist Pastor Defendant in Libel Action

The Rev. Ralph M. Dreger, pastor of the Methodist church at Ashton, has been named a defendant in a $10,000 libel action filed with Lee county Circuit Clerk Edwin Rosecrans by Attorney Steven Helfer of Rochelle, representing Henry Jacobs, Ashton garage mechanic. The complaint is expected to be heard in circuit court at the coming September term.

The bill of complaint filed by Jacobs against the Ashton pastor, charges:

That the defendant falsely and maliciously on or about June 4, 1940, spoke, uttered and published of said plaintiff, the words following: that is to say: "He, (meaning and intending the plaintiff), has a social disease"; thereby meaning that the plaintiff was suffering from a loathsome contagious disorder and was unfit by reason of such disorder to be admitted to society and to be employed.

That the defendant on the same date and the same time, falsely and maliciously said, uttered and published of the plaintiff, that, "He, (the said plaintiff being meant,) kept his wife, (meaning the wife of the plaintiff,) in East Moline, even though she was cured"; thereby meaning that the said plaintiff was falsely imprisoning his wife.

That plaintiff called upon the defendant to apologize for his malicious statements but the defendant refused to do so.

That by reason of these statements, falsely and maliciously made, the plaintiff has been injured in his credit and reputation and brought into disgrace among his friends and neighbors.

Farm House South of Oregon is Damaged by Fire During Morning

(Telegraph Special Service)
Oregon, Aug. 14—The farm home of Bert Cox, about six miles south of Oregon on route 2, was badly damaged by fire, caused by lightning, at an early hour this morning, the bolt following the radio aerial into the house. The upper floor was practically burned off the dwelling, and the lower part was damaged by smoke and water. Most of the contents were saved but some of the furniture was scorched. The Oregon fire company was called to assist in extinguishing the blaze. The loss had not been determined today, but it was stated that it will probably be covered by the insurance carried.

Uncle Sam Keeps Eye on St. Louis Boycott
St. Louis, Aug. 14—(AP)—Uncle Sam has his eye on the proposed southern Illinois boycott on St. Louis trade.

The department of justice is watching developments and is ready to "deal with the situation," said James M. Henderson, special assistant to the attorney-general, if the movement should reach the point of "substantially affecting" interstate business.

He referred to efforts of southern Illinois coal interests to divert trade from the St. Louis market, in retaliation for this city's new smoke elimination program, which Clarence G. Stiehl of Belleville, president of a coal operators' association, declared has cost miners in that area 75 per cent of their market.

Spokesmen for St. Louis business interests reported today that the boycott, announced last Saturday, has shown little signs of hurting business.

Leaders of the boycott movement said four more towns had been "organized," bringing to 10 the number where the program was said to be in force.

WILLKIE INSISTS DEMOCRATS GIVE BACK AD MONEY

Charges Collection for Campaign Books is Violation of Law

Colorado Springs, Aug. 14—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie nodded agreement as Alf Landon, 1936 Republican presidential nominee, told a press conference yesterday:

"President Roosevelt's re-election depends to a great extent upon how many fraudulent votes can be cast by the Kelly-Nash machine in Chicago, the Hague machine in Jersey City, and Boss Flynn's machine in the Bronx."

"I believe it is the policy of the administration to rely on these machines to cast as many fraudulent votes as possible."

Willkie, the Republicans' 1940 nominee, said he agreed thoroughly. Landon was his guest.

Works on Speech
Willkie settled down today to complete the acceptance address he will deliver Saturday in his home town, Elwood, Ind. Although the address virtually was finished last night, Willkie said he wanted to make a few minor revisions before sending it to the printer.

A major section of the speech is expected to deal with military conscription. While rumors have circulated here that the nominee favors the idea, there has been no word from Willkie.

The Republican nominee, after talking with Landon, told the press conference that approximately $610,000 collected by the Democratic national committee for advertising in campaign books should be returned to corporations.

Should Sue If Necessary
Unless the money is returned at once, Willkie added in a statement, corporations should demand recovery of the money and bring suit to get it if it is not repaid.

"I will keep after this thing until they pay back this money," Willkie asserted. "The collections this year were not only a violation of the Hatch law but previous collections have been a direct violation of the Corrupt Practices act."

"It is one of the most sinister things that could happen. That it should be done is just a matter of plain, common honesty."

Willkie, who will fly to Indianapolis tomorrow and then go to Mrs. Willkie's home at Rushville, Ind., arranged to stop en route at Kansas City. The candidate was expected to make a brief address there.

Fun and Frugality, Dixon Watchwords Friday, Saturday

"Dollars Do Double Duty Dollar Day".
"Buy Before Bargains Become Eyegones".
"Shoppers Save—Sellers Sacrifice".
"Wise Women Watch Windows".

These tongue-twisting statements pack a world of meaning as thrifty shoppers will discover in making Dixon their trading center during semi-annual Dollar Days sales Friday and Saturday.

Bargain hunters are bound to have a lot of fun visiting Dixon stores—their eyes sighting merchandise which they have long wanted, and which they may have now at prices that "fit" their pocket-books.

No matter what your wants may be—men's clothing, women's apparel, furniture, shoes, socks, or hose, household appliances, food stuffs, hardware, wash fabrics, porch or living room rugs, luncheon sets, wallpaper or gasoline to make the family automobile run farther—you'll find them in Dixon business places at greatly reduced prices on Dollar Day.

Although Dollar Day sales last only a local merchants have spent weeks preparing for this eventful occasion. Pages of today's edition of The Telegraph are bulging with bargain offerings as an aid in making your selections and planning your Friday and Saturday shopping tour.

31 "Peanut Men" Indicted Today; Swindle Charged
Chicago, Aug. 14—(AP)—The federal government indicted 31 men today on charges of operating a gigantic swindle in peanut vending machines.

The defendants were accused of selling 100,000 of the machines to investors in six middle-western states, although only about 3,000 of the machines were placed in operation, as required by the terms of the contracts.

A. Bradley Eben, an assistant U. S. district attorney who presented the case to the grand jury, said the defendants sold $832,809.83 worth of the machines since March, 1936. He reported the books of the companies involved showed that at least 12,500 more machines were sold than the organization manufactured.

Among those indicted were Harold E. Taylor, 53, of Chicago, president and treasurer of the three concerns involved; Albert G. Burns of Oakland, Calif., vice president and sales manager; and Otto Schechtel, alias Otto King of Chicago; whose bonds were set at $10,000 each. Eben said they were the "king pins" of the mail fraud and conspiracy charged in the indictment.

The other defendants were salesmen, whose bonds were set at $5,000 each. They included Bert David of Kankakee, Douglas W. Adams of Peoria, George R. McFadden of Joliet.

The indictment listed 53 victims of the alleged conspiracy and fraud in Indiana, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota.

Four Months Rainfall 3.33 In. Below Normal

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 14—(AP)—Rainfall reached a maximum of 3.94 inches at Quincy during the week ended Aug. 13, but the average precipitation for the entire state was only 0.61 inch, the weather bureau said today in its weekly report.

The weekly rainfall totaled an inch or more over most of extreme western Illinois, and exceeded two inches in localities in Morgan, Macoupin, Schuyler and Adams counties.

Rainfall in Illinois since April 1 averages 3.33 inches below normal, the report said.

Marked Increase in Tourist Travel in Illinois Shown in Tax Returns

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 14—(AP)—A decided increase in tourist traffic in Illinois was indicated, state officials said today, by an increase of $3,881,967 in combined sales and gasoline tax receipts for May, June and July over collections for the same three-month period of 1939.

The gain was nearly 12 per cent. The three-month sales tax collections for 1940 amounted to $24,834,702 as compared with $22,025,491 in 1939. Gasoline tax receipts were $12,399,882 for the period this year as against $11,319,116 last year.

George H. Luker, state superintendent of parks, said attendance at state parks and memorials was running 25 per cent above last year.

Milburn P. Akers, executive secretary of the Illinois Development Council, attributed the apparent influx of tourists and increased state revenue in part to a state advertising campaign carried on by the council and financed by a $250,000 appropriation of the 61st general assembly.

Wars abroad which have diverted recreational travel from foreign countries to American attractions and general business upturn during the past few months were also considered factors in the revenue increase.

Green Nationally Important, Says "The Pathfinder"

Declaring Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for governor of Illinois, is "nationally important," The Pathfinder, a news review of world affairs, published in Washington, D. C., says in the current issue:

In the hurly-burly of the 1940 presidential campaign, one of the big points worth stressing is that Dwight Herbert Green is a man of prime political importance in America. Indeed, in some respects, as far as Republicans are concerned, he is as significant a source of hope as Wendell Lewis Willkie.

For the fact is that when one speculates over Wendell Willkie and the November election, one must speculate also over Dwight Green and Illinois. And the reason for this is that all signs point to a hair's breadth presidential race—the kind of race in which a single state might easily mean the difference between victory and defeat, especially a single state so politically strategic as Dwight Green's.

Who is Dwight Green? In Illinois no one needs to be told, but the public at large has in all likelihood forgotten that he is the very same man who not many years ago smashed up the filthy world of Al Capone. Nor can the public at large be expected to know that he is now the Republican candidate for the governorship of Illinois—the spearhead of his party's drive to overcome the entrenched forces of the Democratic Kelly-Nash machine in Chicago.

Although his home has been in Chicago since the First World War, Green, whose showing next November will probably have a telling effect on the national election, is a Hoosier by birth—like Willkie. And he is like Willkie in other respects also, having none of the earmarks of a politician and having the solid, wholesome background of an American who has paved his own way to success and high civic recognition.

Forty-three years old, Dwight Green was born on January 9, 1897, at the little Ligonier in Indiana, where his grandparents had settled in 1862, a few years after they had left Germany. As a boy, Dwight was a typical rural youngster, performing typical rural chores—odd farm jobs, running a newspaper delivery route and clerking at the town drugstore. After high school, where he made the football team, his parents (Harry and Minnie Gerber Green) gave him their blessing and sent him off to Wabash College at Crawfordsville, Ind., where he helped pay his tuition with money he had saved.

In 1917, after two years at Wabash, young Green enlisted in the Army and was sent to learn aviation at the University of Illinois. Becoming a Second Lieutenant in the Air Service, he was transferred to Mather Field at Sacramento, Calif., where he was one of the Army's flying instructors from July, 1918, to the following January. After that, the war over, he stayed in California for a spell to study history, mathematics and political science at Stanford University. His next move was to go to the University of Chicago, where he received his Bachelor of Philosophy degree in 1920 and his Doctorate of Jurisprudence two years later. At Chicago, incidentally, he paid his own way by working as campus correspondent for one of the city's newspapers.

In 1926, four years after winning his law degree, Dwight went to Washington, D. C., having been appointed a special attorney in the Bureau of Internal Revenue. A few months later, he married Mable Victoria Kingston, a resi-

Tax Officials Seek Removals of Barriers

Chicago, Aug. 13.—(AP)—A group of tax experts discussed today a proposed uniform law for taxing interstate sales in states which have respective sales taxes.

The meeting was called by John Hendren, attorney for the Missouri state sales tax department and chairman of the committee on uniform sales tax regulations of the National Association of Tax Administrators.

Committeemen included Fred C. McClurg, chief counsel of the Indiana gross income tax division; Samuel Herman, supervisor of the rules and regulations division, Illinois department of finance; John H. Mulrooney, assistant attorney general of Iowa, and Lester Ponder of the Arkansas department of revenue.

Business and manufacturing representatives offered their views to the committee yesterday. Hendren said the aim of the proposal was to create uniform regulation as a means of eliminating interstate trade barriers.

dent of the capital and one of its most beautiful women—a happy union, since made even happier by the arrival of daughters Nancy and Gloria.

Not long after his marriage, Dwight Green was transferred to Chicago, going there in 1927 as special representative of the general counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau. This was the beginning of his impressive career as a racket-buster—a career in which he brought Federal justice to bear with crushing effectiveness against what was perhaps the world's worst dynasty of crime, the kingdom of Al Capone. In the course of his historic prosecutions, Green acted first as special assistant to the United States Attorney for the Northern District of Illinois, in charge of income tax matters, and then as U. S. Attorney for the District (from 1932 to 1935). By the time he returned to private law practice in 1935, he had made an enviable name for himself by driving Capone behind Federal prison bars for a term of 10 years and by putting the heat on such other criminal scum as "Baby Face" Nelson. Similarly, he got after the notorious Samuel Insull, and demonstrated time and again to a crime-sick public that law still ruled the land.

Back in private law practice Green continued to maintain a quiet but keen interest in public affairs, but he kept himself out of politics until 1939, when a group of Republicans prevailed upon him to fight the all-powerful machine of Mayor Edward J. Kelly and Patrick Nash, National Democratic Committeeman for Illinois. For anybody but Dwight Green, such an effort would have been as futile as tilting a lance at a windmill, for in Chicago all movements for political reform begin with two strikes against them. This is so for the reason that in 16 key wards of the city, Republican leaders work hand-in-glove with the Democratic steamroller of Kelly and Nash.

However, Chicago's ward-healing skulduggery did not discourage Green. Backed by the Republican party and the Better Government Association, he campaigned for the mayorship against Ed Kelly—a hard-hitting campaign waged against great odds. The election was in April of last year, and the returns were amazing—even though Kelly won. They were amazing because they showed that Green had polled 638,000 votes—the largest number of Republican votes any state or local candidate had ever obtained in the history of boss-ridden Chicago. Kelly squeezed through to victory by the narrowest of margins, but it is still charged that he won only as a result of deliberate ballot frauds, such as the notorious "pulling" of votes.

Be that as it may, fraudulent or not, Chicago's 1939 mayoralty race proved one thing to the satisfaction of Dwight Green and other sponsors of good government. It proved that the mighty Kelly-Nash machine could be beaten with just a little more effort on the part of an aroused electorate. Accordingly, because the machine has exercised state-wide influence in the past and because it now appears to have an Achilles heel, the Republican party in Illinois is anticipating a victory in November. Named in the primary of last April, Dwight Green is the party's white hope for the governorship, and Dwight Green himself is confident that he will win. Says he:

"I have had some firsthand experience with this machine. It literally and absolutely stole the 1939 mayoralty victory from the people of Chicago, Illinois is aroused. We intend to see to it that this corrupt and wasteful Democratic organization will not win in November, however tightly it holds on to the Roosevelt coattails. Louisiana crushed the Huey Long machine. New York smashed Tammany. Kansas City overthrew Pendergast. Pennsylvania got rid of its Democratic steamroller. And now we in Illinois will ring down the curtain on Kelly and Nash."

Although the Kelly-Nash machine is probably the most formidable in America, Illinois Republicans are not day-dreaming or mouthing mere political chatter when they expect to defeat it in November. They have reason to place great confidence in Dwight Green, for their gubernatorial candidate is young, vigorous and highly appealing to the public. A man of exceptional competence, he symbolizes the refreshing change that has taken place in the G. O. P. nationally. Not in any sense a run-of-the-mill politician, he might well be called the Wendell Willkie of Illinois—able, un-bossed, clear-headed and plain-speaking, a man well versed in the processes of both business and government.

PROVIDENTIAL

Michigan City, Ind.—(AP)—Outside Central fire station it was raining hard when the telephone rang.

"There's a grass fire on the east side," a woman complained. "Can you come and put it out?"

"A grass fire?" the switchboard operator countered. "Why, it's pouring here!"

"Just a minute," said the woman. "I think it's sprinkling here now... I mean, it's pouring."

So the firemen did not have to put out the grass fire.

Girl Scout News

The Dixon Girl Scout Council met at the W. A. McNichol's home Monday morning and following the minutes of last meeting, camp report took up most of the morning.

The director, Miss Kathryn Harrington, gave a comprehensive and interesting report on the five weeks of Camp John Gould. Ralston held from June 23 to July 28. There were 148 different individuals in camp during the period—13 people employed.

23 Brownie Scouts camped 3 days. 80 different Girl Scouts and 26 different Senior Girl Scouts and 6 girls who were not Girl Scouts; 135 girls camped at some time during the 5 weeks.

79 girls were from Dixon; 21 from Sterling; 7 from Rock Falls; seven from Morrison; four from Moline; four from Belvidere; 4 from Savanna; 2 from Wilmette; 1 from Batavia; 1 from Rock Island; 1 from Roxana; 1 from Wood River; 1 from South Bend, Ind.; 1 from Snyder, N. Y. Dixon Girl Scouts were given preference in registration.

Nine girls earned their way by working at camp, 21 girls were given all or part of camp fees; 30 girls enabled to go to camp because of campships generously given by Dixon people.

Camp consisted of two units, each with own aims—with emphasis on songs, dances and craft work; nature study and outdoor cooking.

Council and director appreciate generosity and cooperation of Dixon people in making Camp Ralston a worthwhile project. Miss Harrington is spending the remainder of summer with parents in Iowa, returning Sept. 1.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to well and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

Security Requires Soldiers

Rearmament, of which we are in grave need, calls for men as well as for equipment.

Gentlemen who seek to block the President's plan for a draft come within one of several classifications. First, they may distrust the President's motives, thinking he means to evade restraints and send the draft army to Europe. Second, they may feel that our security is not imperiled to the point where we need a conscript army, or, third, they may fear the cost of this gigantic undertaking, coming as it does after the President and his spenders have stripped the country.

If any one fears the President's intentions, the thing for him to do is to seek a change in administration, placing in charge a man who, we hope, will not arouse suspicions as to his motives. Normally, people do not abandon the barn simply because they distrust the padlock that protects the horse.

Those who feel our security is not threatened are placing too much faith in their powers to forecast events. We have two large groups, one of which believes it is tommyrot to fear that Germany will come over here and attack us, while the other believes Germany will set sail in the British navy the day after Britain is defeated, if Britain does suffer defeat.

Now the truth is that no one, even including Hitler, knows what Hitler will do after the fighting stops in Europe. Hitler may know what he intends to do, but he doesn't know whether he can do it. The rest of us are in the dark, suffering from wishful thinking to a large extent. We wish he would not attack us, so we think he has no such plan; or, we wish so badly to see him defeated that we convince ourselves that we will be attacked unless we declare war right now.

There is one item that comes under the head-

• SERIAL STORY

MURDER INCOGNITO

BY NORMAN KAHL

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Martin Saylor's five dinner guests find his body in the study. Dale calls police. Lieutenant O'Leary arrives, makes routine inquiries, then asks Dale: "If you did not touch the body, how did you know Saylor was shot?"

CHAPTER III

DALE fingered the black bow tie that stood out in sharp relief against his white mess jacket. How DID he know that his stepfather had died from a bullet?

"I don't know what made me think of shooting," Dale said in a monotone. "It's just the first thing that occurred to me. I don't know why. I just saw him there in that pool of blood, and the only thing I could think of was that he had been shot to death."

"Did your stepfather have any enemies?"

Dale wondered how he should answer that, and then he said, "Yes, lots of them."

"Don't you think he might have had more than the usual because of his parole racket?"

Dale shot a quick glance at the detective. "Then you know about that?"

"Sure. We've known about it all along, but we couldn't stop it. There wasn't anything we could put our fingers on. You know—getting convicts out of prison through crooked connections on the parole board and making them pay stiff fees if they didn't want to get sent back on trumped-up parole violations."

"Extortion, maybe. But what could we do? Nobody squeaked, naturally. And if they had, it would have been the word of an ex-con against a respectable attorney."

Dale nodded. "It might have been almost anyone who killed him, I suppose."

Lieutenant O'Leary clasped his earlobe and pulled at it. "Yeah, might have been." He arose and stretched himself. "Let's go back to the study. I may want to look around a bit."

THE body had been removed when they entered the room. O'Leary walked over to Saylor's desk and seated himself in the swivel chair. He opened the top drawer and fingered the sparse contents nonchalantly.

"Do you know very much about your stepfather's affairs?" the lieutenant asked.

"Practically nothing. He never confided in me."

O'Leary peered a moment at some papers he had removed from the desk drawer. "Tell me who was here tonight?" he asked.

Dale leaned against the mantle over the fireplace. "Miss Leighton and Mr. Barbour—I told you about them before, I believe."

"Who is Barbour?"

"He was my stepfather's law partner."

"Okay. Who else?"

"There was Mr. Mardell and Miss Waters, my fiancée, and myself. The servants, of course, but they were in another part of the house."

O'Leary pinned his gaze directly on Dale. For a second, the young man met the stare and then he peered uneasily at the floor. "You said a little while ago," the officer recalled, "that Miss Leighton was coming in here to see Saylor when she found him dead. What did she want to see him about?"

"I don't know," Dale snapped. "Better ask her."

"Thanks," said O'Leary. He brushed the incident aside. "I'm curious about this window next to the desk. You'll notice that the spot where the body lay was directly opposite."

Dale walked over to the window. "I don't think the shot could have been fired from the outside. My stepfather always kept the windows locked and there obviously isn't any glass broken. I don't see . . . Oh—oh, what's this?"

O'LEARY got up and came to the window. "What's the matter?"

"Look, this window is unlatched. That's queer. Saylor never permitted that. He insisted the windows be kept locked."

O'Leary made a brief round of the room. "The others are locked," he said. "Tell me, when you were all standing in the room, did anyone go near the windows?"

Dale frowned. "Why, yes, now that you speak of it—George Barbour did. He was just looking out. There would certainly have been no point in his unlocking the window."

"Maybe not," O'Leary agreed. "Anyway, it's interesting."

Dale studied the latch on the French windows. "Of course, if the window had been unlocked, it might have been possible for someone to jimmy it from the outside and then close it again."

O'Leary went back to the desk. "It's possible. Anyway, we'll find out soon. The boys are going over the outside now for footprints and they can take a look at the windows in a little while."

Dale rested on the arm of the divan before the fireplace. "If the shot wasn't fired through the window, it stands to reason it must have been fired from somewhere inside the house—and that's absurd."

O'Leary leaned back and tossed ing of rational deduction. We can pin our faith on the theory that if we have a sufficient defense, Hitler will fear to attack us. If such a decent theory fails, then none other can hold water. It frees us of the accusation of intervention in affairs which primarily are not of our making; it coincides with the theory of George Washington and it is unassailable by logic. Best of all, it would free us of fear. Mr. Roosevelt, no less than Hitler, has created that fear by his speech in which he suggested that St. Louis could be bombed by easy stages from Europe. Hitler made the bombs, and Roosevelt dropped them.

As to those who fear the cost of rearmament: What is the United States worth? What is our liberty worth? Complete rearmament and the maintenance of arms and troops will cost more than most of us suspect. If we place a dollar value upon our way of living, if we would be willing to defend ourselves for $9.99, but not for $10.50, then we might as well sell out immediately. If we have no more men of the caliber of Cincinnatus, who left his plow standing in the field and hastened to defense of his country's honor, then we have little worth defending.

As we see it, the main block upon which we stumble in our program to get men as well as arms is the general suspicion of Mr. Roosevelt, who was an outstanding and outspoken militarist twenty years ago and since then has convicted himself not only of militaristic tendencies, but of the desire to meddle from Mandalay to the Rhine for results not worth the blood of a single American high school boy.

It is Roosevelt that must be blocked—not rearmament.

The controversy to date centers not on appropriations for battleships, planes, tanks, but on how we shall acquire the trained personnel needed to man such weapons. To have arms without men is as full of folly as to have men without weapons. If the army high command, on its independent authority and without regard to politics, wants a draft, then we should have a draft. The United States needs an army of technicians, men who know the difference between a crankshaft and a carburetor. Skilled and competent men of the most desirable military age are apt to have good paying jobs already. They are not likely to be found drinking in the temptations of army recruiting stations, hankering for $21 a month.

Boomerang Bombing

The last word has not yet been written on the effectiveness of the bomber as a means of warfare.

In Poland, in Belgium and Holland, in France, it looked irresistible. And yet—One remembers Spain, where Madrid went through the hell of bombing from the air for months on end. And one reads a letter from Mu Wen-Fu in the China Weekly Review in which he tells of raids by the score on Chungking, by Japanese squadrons of 100 or more planes:

"The more and heavier the Japanese bombs, the deeper the hatred of the Chinese people for the Japanese people and all their works, and the stronger the will of the people to resist. So long as we have breath in our bodies, our resistance will continue until Japan has collapsed."

Is this an augury for England? Is it a suggestion that the resilient and artful human spirit, which had the ingenuity to invent bombing, will also contrive the means and the strength to nullify it?

News Behind THE NEWS

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Aug. 14.—The British think they have discovered the secret of the whole well-ordered scheme of Nazi invasion behind the air forays of the past few days. They reckon Hitler will throw gradually increasing numbers of bombers at them for the next few weeks, not primarily to cripple harbors, convoys and land defenses but to crush the fighting power of the British air force.

This is the dunder to clear the British skies. The blitz will fall around September 1 to 6th, they figure.

Their reckoning has been determined both by information and analysis. Moons and tides will be most favorable for invasion for a period of 6 to 7 days beginning September 1. All night long on these dates there will be no moon along the coast to aid the defenders in detecting and countering an invading force. At that very time also, highest tides are expected at points where the invaders might logically strike. Portsmouth will have a high of 14½ feet at midnight September 4. Tides ranging from thirteen to twenty feet will be recorded at Dover, Harwich, Leith and Aberdeen around or after midnight September 4 and 5.

Increasing high water leading up to these top marks will enable the Germans to get their shallow draft boats more securely upon the British beaches. Unless the Germans take advantage of this favorable period, they will miss their last golden chance before spring. Fog soon after October 1 will prevent re-occurrence during the winter of the advantages of this apparently single remaining opportunity.

If Hitler lets Britain go through the winter, he will find a stronger foe in the spring. British plane production has been stepped up rapidly. Before the ice thaws again there is every prospect the British will be able to come near matching the Nazis aloft. Our planes also will be ready for them in great quantities before then.

But the odds are against them for the present. Their own officially censored claims in the Sunday air battle were twenty-six of their own planes shot down against sixty Germans. If this most favorable British conception of the result is accepted (and it can be accepted only with heavy doubts) the ratio of loss is too great to encourage hopes for British success at this time. The German air force has a superiority of more than two and a half to one in numbers. It can trade two planes for one until the last British plane is gone and then have enough left to win.

The British have shown they know the game. German newspapers are already squealing that their adversaries are not sending up as many ships to fight as formerly, but are conserving the single weapon in which all their hopes lie.

Mr. Roosevelt has offered the secretaryship of labor to Mayor Fiorella La Guardia of New York, and don't let anyone tell you differently. La Guardia has hummed and hawed in a declining mood.

While the acquisition of the little flower in the new deal garden would contribute a striking horticultural specimen for the campaign it now looks like the deal is off. La Guardia may desire more definite assurances as to his future than a cabinet term which will run only until January 1 unless Roosevelt is reelected.

Announcement of the new trade agreement with Russia was a little vague on details. You may have noticed. Worst detail is the provision enabling Russia to cancel her promise to buy $40,000,000 worth of goods here in a year if she decides this country imposes any obstacles to trade. An embargo on any material presumably would enable the Reds to withdraw from the contract. This places the whole authority over the continuance of the agreement in her hands.

GHOST GROUNDED

Basel, Switzerland.—(AP)—Determined investigators finally have laid the ghost of "Brother Klaus", which kept the region of Waldenburg in a turmoil.

Early-rising farmers of the region swore that the ghost of Brother Klaus, a saintly monk of the middle ages, had appeared frequently in the sky over Waldenburg since the European war began.

Popular belief in the ghost grew so swiftly that an investigation was ordered. Authorities found that a Swiss civil pilot, trying to escape the ban on civil flying during the war, took to the air just after dawn and practiced skywriting.

Although there are less than 150 yards of auto roads in Venice, the city has the largest garage in Europe.

Silver Wedding Anniversary

The Rev. and Mrs. O. H. Linnemeier were pleasantly surprised Sunday afternoon when more than two hundred and fifty friends and members of the Lutheran church from Rochelle and all northern Illinois, gathered to help them observe their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary and the twenty-fifth anniversary of the ordination of the Rev. Linnemeier as a minister of the Lutheran church.

Following church services in the morning, Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Bogue took Rev. and Mrs. Linnemeier for a drive. During their absence, all was made in readiness for the dinner, which was served by the members of the Ladies Aid society and the afternoon's observances.

The Rev. Linnemeier and Mrs. Linnemeier repeated their marriage vows to the Rev. W. Linnemeier, twin brother of Rev. O. H. Linnemeier, who is pastor of the Lutheran church in Hammond, Indiana. The best man and bridesmaid of twenty-five years ago, attended the couple again, Sunday.

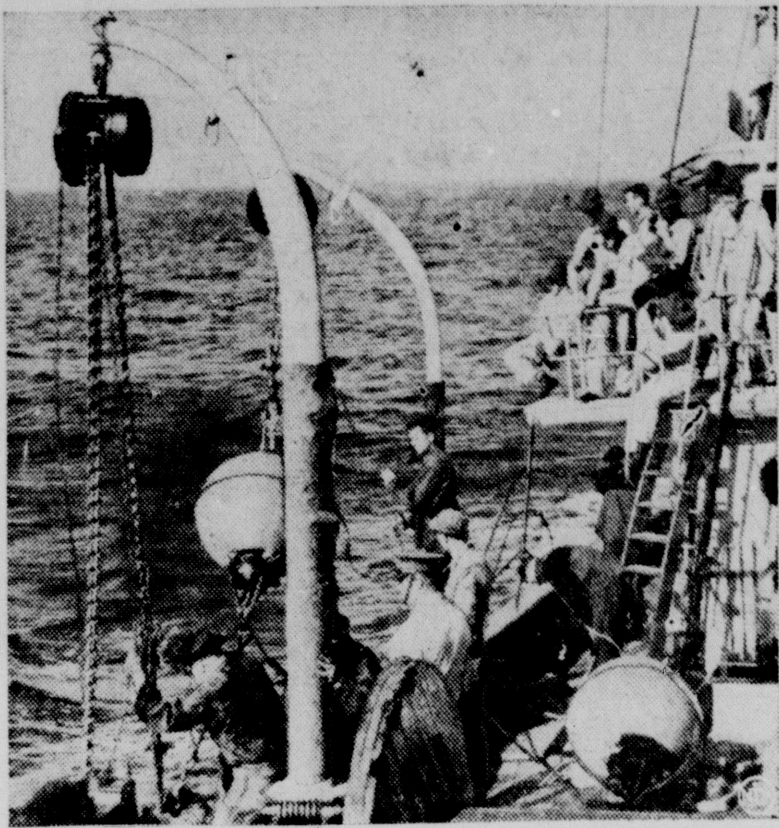

The congregation tendered a silver gift of twenty-five silver dollars to their pastor and his wife, as well as additional silver totaling $85. Suitable gifts were also contributed by the Men's Club, Young People's Organization, Ladies Aid Society, and other organizations. Herman Vandere was chairman of arrangements.

Rev. Linnemeier's mother, aged eighty-one, was among those present, as was Mrs. Linnemeier's mother, from Ohio. Ministers were present from DeKalb, Freeport, Morrison, Amboy, Rockford, and Hammond, Indiana.

Toward Camp McCoy
All day Monday, army trucks, supply trucks, transportation vans loaded with soldiers, ambulances, guns, and motorcycles with side-cars, speeded on their way toward Camp McCoy, Wisconsin. Some observers estimated several hundred motorized military cars passed through Rochelle during the day.

Obituary

William Koontz, 70, died early Sunday morning. Funeral services were held today at the Methodist church with Rev. William Manny officiating. Burial was at Plainview.

Mr. Koontz was born in Mount Morris April 18, 1870. In 1895 he was married to Sadie Damer who preceded him in death six weeks ago. Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Vivian McKee of Byron, a foster daughter, Mrs. Amy Hendricks of Rochelle, one grandson and two sisters, Mrs. Lulu Noble and Mrs. Gracie Marshall, both of Mount Morris.

Harvey Griswold, 85, life long resident of Rockvale township, died at his home Saturday evening. Funeral services were held at the home Tuesday with Rev. William L. Manny officiating and burial was at Oakwood. Harvey, son of George and Hanna Jackson Griswold, was born in Rockvale township Feb. 2, 1855. On Dec. 6, 1882, he was married to Elizabeth Mumma.

Surviving are two children, Mrs. Tom Snodgrass and George Griswold, both of Rockvale township, three grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

A bus load of Woman's club members of Leaf River, Oregon, Byron and Mount Morris made a visit Monday to the Gereva school for girls, Elgin state hospital and Park Ridge school for girls. At Elgin they heard an interesting lecture on some of the causes and cures for insanity. At Park Ridge lunch was served. Mount Morris club members making the trip were the Mesdames August Hanke, Carol Boston, M. C. Small, Elmer Paul, Gerald Hough, Robert Allen, Leslie Watt, Faustina Curley, Walter Deman, Merrill Keller, Etta Rittenhouse, John Blakely and Harold Marcott.

Mrs. Richard Dierdorf and infant daughter, Diane Lee, arrived Saturday from Miami, Fla., and are guests in the Virgil Dierdorf home.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis McCauley came up from Roanoke Saturday to attend the wedding of Miss Irene Priller and William Webster, and Saturday evening the McCauleys and W. C. Wests were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Webster.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. West were their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis McCauley of Roanoke and son Orval and family of Polo.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Smith and Everett and Mrs. Gerald Lamm and Geraldine spent Sunday at Devil's Lake, Wis.

It is estimated that it takes 12,000 man-hours of work to produce one of the huge dies used to shape auto body tops.

Seek Oil, Gas Leases
in Viola, Brooklyn

(Telegraph Special Service)

West Brooklyn, Aug. 14—Bert Hartley and Lonnie Buchanan have undertaken the task of procuring oil and gas leases on a block of 6,000 acres of land situated in sections 33, 25, 26, 34, 35 and 36 in Viola township and all of sections 1, 3 and 4 in Brooklyn township. The contracting parties are J. Fred Carey and J. E. Milborn who are at present engaged in drilling operations in the vicinity of Shabbona where a huge drill tower has been erected.

The leases provide that drilling operations must be started within six months of the date upon which a major portion of the land under consideration is signed up. The lands include properties lying just one mile north of the village and it is hoped that the project meets with success.

Helen Mae Whiting Becomes Bride of George W. Smith

Wearing a dusty rose street-length gown with black accessories, Miss Helen Mae Whiting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Whiting of 1123 East Mifflin street, Madison, Wis., became the bride of Dr. George Winston Smith of Washington, D. C., son of the George J. Smiths of 210 North Galena avenue, in a ceremony solemnized Monday afternoon in Pilgrim Congregational church in Madison. The Rev. A. J. Wallace heard the vows.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, carried a colonial bouquet of white and blush roses.

Mrs. T. H. Launsbury, who was her sister's matron of honor, wore a powder blue gown, and also carried a colonial bouquet. Horace Merriam was Mr. Smith's best man, and the ushers were Jack Whiting and Edward White.

Mrs. Whiting, the bride's mother, wore green and white silk crepe, accented by a corsage of white sweetpeas and pink roses. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. George J. Smith, chose black sheer with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

After a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. Smith and his bride left on a wedding trip to northern Wisconsin and Minnesota. They will be at home after Sept. 4 in Washington, D. C.

The bride attended the University of Wisconsin at Madison. The bridegroom, a graduate of Illinois university is assistant professor at the American university in Washington, having received a doctor's degree from the University of Wisconsin last summer. He is affiliated with Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa fraternities.

IN MICHIGAN

Junior Dunkelberger and Charles Schuler expect to return Sunday evening from Lapeer, Mich., where they have been guests of Dick Rhead, Junior's former roommate at St. John's Military Academy, since Friday.

FROM WYOMING

Mrs. Jessie Burtfield has returned to Dixon after a two weeks' vacation with her sister and daughter in Laramie, Wyo. She traveled west through the Black Hills with her sister, who stopped in Dixon en route from New York.

Madison Bride

Mrs. George Winston Smith, pictured above, was the former Miss Helen Mae Whiting, before her marriage to Dr. Smith Monday afternoon in Madison, Wis. The bridegroom, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Smith of 210 North Galena avenue, is assistant professor of history at American university in Washington, D. C.

Ogle Farmers Are Planning Annual Picnic

Hundreds of farmers and their families are expected to assemble at the Ogle county fair grounds on Saturday for the annual Ogle County Farm Bureau and Home Bureau picnic. Contests, a platform program, an exhibit of 4-H projects and a baseball game are included on the day's program.

Races and games for boys and girls are scheduled for 1 o'clock, to be followed by a peanut race for children under eight, tug-of-war and hog-calling contests for men, a slipper-kicking contest, chair quots, dart throwing and other women's games.

Musical numbers from various parts of the county will feature the platform program at 1:30. A display of 4-H club projects for both girls and boys will occupy the morning, and a baseball game between Ogle and DeKalb county teams is scheduled for 2:30.

A premium will be awarded to the oldest Farm Bureau member attending and the largest Farm Bureau family present. Prizes will also be presented to winners of the contests.

Those attending are asked to provide their own basket dinners. The Farm Bureau will furnish coffee.

The picnic committee includes Clarence Parks, Raymond Buker, William Grover, Ben Carpenter, Mrs. J. W. Henningway, Mrs. Claude Holmes, Mrs. Frederick Claussen and Miss Lorraine Link, assisted by the Farm Adviser and Home Adviser.

Plan Reunion at Prairieville

Some 200 former students of the Prairieville school and residents of the vicinity are planning to assemble at the school or Saturday for their annual school and community reunion. All teachers, music instructors, students and scholars, patrons and friends of the school district and community, both former and present, are invited.

Those attending are asked to provide their own table service for the picnic dinner, which will be served in the school building. Frank Nangle of Paw Paw is to be the principal speaker of the afternoon, and there will also be special numbers.

BOTHE REUNION

PERSONALS

Miss Evelyn Roberts left Sunday for Rochester, Minn., where she submitted to a garter operation. Miss Eulalia Flannery accompanied her to Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. George Weststead and son Marvin left yesterday for their home in San Francisco, Calif., after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Weststead at the Commodore hotel, and her parents in Napoleon, Ohio.

Adv. 19312

Mrs. I. B. Potter and daughter Mabel Louise and Frances Loneran expect to go to Chicago tomorrow morning to remain until Saturday evening.

Walter M. Smith returned last evening from a business trip to Geneseo.

Tom Mitchell spent Monday in Chicago at the U. S. Dept. of Commerce, department of aviation.

Miss Anna Marie Schafer of Ashton submitted to a tonsillectomy at the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital yesterday.

Judge Harry E. Wheat of Freeport was president at hearings in the Lee county Circuit court today.

Musicians Will Congregate for Music Festival

From 30 states late this week, a great cavalcade of music will be moving upon Chicago for the eleventh annual Chicago Music Festival to be held Saturday evening in Soldier Field.

Leading the massed bands, choruses and individual singers and instrumentalists will be one of the most famous girls' marching organizations in the United States. And they will probably travel the longest distance to attend—more than 1,100 miles—from Orange, Tex.

They are the Bengal Guards of Orange high school, who have won acclaim wherever they have appeared. Many judges have likened them to the celebrated Radio City Rockettes of the New York World's Fair, although the 101 pretty girls comprising the personnel are considerably more than a musical show chorus, and they are more than a drum and bugle corps. Their music, their precision drills, their flags and striking uniforms have made them unique among high school organizations.

At the Sugar Bowl football game in New Orleans on New Year's Day, they created a sensation. Many large cities in the south have seen the Bengal Guards, but this will be their first trip into the north.

The special train in which they will make the trip is being provided by H. J. Lutzner Stark, multi-millionaire lumberman, and oil operator of Orange. It has been Stark also who has provided uniforms, instruments, drillmaster, drill fields, and inspiration for the Bengal Guards. They are a part of Stark's own youth movement which has given a start in life to hundreds of Orange's boys and girls.

The Bengal Guards, however, will not be the whole show at the Festival. The three-hour program will include choruses of thousands of voices. There will be massed bands of hundreds, and 1,000 Negro voices will blend in the spirituals of their race.

The guest of honor this year will be the widow of Edward McDowell, the American composer. And the audience of 100,000 which is expected to fill Soldier field on the lakefront will have part in the show. In addition to the community singing, it will become the world's largest combined-paper band.

One of the most magnificent sights at the Festival is the match lighting ceremony. At a signal from Philip Maxwell, director of the Festival and master of ceremonies, each member of the audience will strike a match and hold it up to twinkle in the darkness, transforming the darkened amphitheater into a great noreshore of flickering flame. The Festival management will provide thousands of matches at the gate.

An hour and a half of the show will be on the air. WGN, Chicago, will carry it from 8:30 p. m. (CDST) to 9 p. m. From 9 to 10 p. m., the entire Mutual Broadcasting System network will broadcast the Festival.

Three musical units from Dixon will be competing for honors in contests throughout the day. They include the Troubadettes, the Treble Clef choir, and Miss Marie Werley's Accordion band.

PRE-NUPITAL PARTY

Miss Lois Howard, who is soon to become the bride of Thomas H. McLaughlin, was complimented recently at a scramble supper and miscellaneous shower at the home of Miss Dorothy Harvey. Prizes in the evening's games went to Miss Ruth Barton and Mrs. Donald Egler.

Present were Mrs. George Merriam, Mrs. Donald Egler, Mrs. Clara Harvey, Mrs. Gen. Schulteis, Mrs. Gladys McDonald, Miss Ruth Barton and Miss Howard.

AFTERNOON UNIT

Members of Dixon Afternoon unit are planning a picnic supper for 6 o'clock Thursday evening at Lowell park.

DOROTHY CHAPTER

Dorothy Chapter, O. E. S. will meet in the Masonic temple at 8 o'clock Friday evening.

Mrs. Edna Nattress spent today in Chicago.

"Post Script" Is Being Held Over at Summer Theater

Never in the history of the Grand Detour Players has a play been held over a second week at Ili hall. Never, that is, until now.

Last week in their little "straw hat" theater at Grand Detour, the Players previewed the play, "Post Script", a brand new farce by Garry Wilson and Burke O'Connell, and received such an enthusiastic reception that Director

Richard Vernon decided to comply with repeated requests that the show be held over for the current week.

New York scouts and Chicago newspaper critics have been generous in their praise, especially of Franklin Lundstrom as the milk-toast comedian, and Winnie Howler as the wise-cracking blond. Charles Washburn will produce "Post Script" on Broadway this fall, and is considering both of these starlets for permanent parts.

The troupe will present the play at 7:30 o'clock for four evenings this week, beginning Thursday, and will also appear in their weekly matinee at 3 p. m. Sunday.

Hague Court Decides

Case of One Babe and Two Claimant Mothers
The Hague, Aug. 14—(AP)—The case of a baby boy claimed by two mothers after an air bombing of a maternity home in the nazi conquest of The Netherlands May 10 was decided by a Hague court today.
The court ruled that the woman who now has the baby must give it to her. She cried out that she "never, never" would yield.
The other woman, plaintiff in the case, said that her baby was 10 days old when the maternity home was bombed and that she took the child to a window and handed him to a pedestrian, who ran with the infant to an air-raid shelter. There, according to the plaintiff, the other woman took the child.
The court heard evidence that two babies were killed in the defendant's room at the maternity home but none in the room of the plaintiff. Blood tests and fingerprint tests were made on the surviving child but these were not decisive.
The woman who sued for the baby was not in court, but both husbands were there. The winning father broke away from the congratulations of friends and dashed home to tell his wife of the decision. The other mother wept.

German Bombers—

fielded in a series of flights involving 300 planes.
Fourth Day of Blitzkrieg
It was the fourth straight day of aerial blitzkrieg, with Britain carrying the war to the rooftops of her axis foes before dawn in two long-range raids into Italy and Germany.
Flying high out of sight, German heinkel penetrated British coast defenses and bombed the industrial midlands while swarms of Messerschmitt fighters engaged British Spitfires and Hurricane pursuit planes at lower altitudes.
Spectators said the British quickly broke up the German strategy of "flying circle" attack, diving into their midst and chasing them into individual dog-fights.
First reports said at least 10 Nazi planes were shot down.
A Berlin dispatch meanwhile said "inquiry in competent quarters elicited no denial" of reports that Germany was using long-range Big Bertha to shell the English coast from emplacements across the channel.
British Strike Back
Striking back, Britain sent her airmen on a 1,600-mile round trip across the Alps to rain death on Italian cities while another R. A. F. flight threw a 47-minute air-raid scare into residents of Berlin.
The Caproni factory at Milan and the Fiat plant in Turin, two of Italy's major aircraft works, were damaged badly, the British declared.
Far-roving squadrons of the Royal Air Force, whose combat forces at home have sustained the lash of a three-day aerial blitzkrieg, dropped tons of high-explosive and incendiary bombs on Milan, Turin and other fascist cities, killing 22 and wounding more than 50 others.
"War with its terror now is at your door," said leaflets dropped by night raiders from the island kingdom.
Despite murky weather, Nazi warplanes attacked Britain's great industrial midlands during the night and returned again early this afternoon for a fierce, large-scale attack on the already bomb-scarred south coast.
150 Planes in Dogfight
R. A. F. defense squadrons clashed with the raiders in dog-fights involving 150 planes, and spectators on the shore saw at least four planes crash into the sea in flames.
Anti-aircraft guns hammered at the Nazi craft, which attacked barrage balloons and sank a channel lightship with a six-plane salvo of 12 bombs.
Other German raiders swarmed along the coast in numbers approaching the 500 which stormed Britain's first-line coastal defenses yesterday. About 300 planes fought all along the south coast.
British destroyers also went into action in the heightening struggle.
The admiralty reported two British craft engaged six armed German trawlers and three E-boats (torpedo-carrying speed boats) and scored hits on three ships before the Germans fled behind a smokescreen.
A Nazi trawler and one E-boat, we believed sunk, the Admiralty said.
Coincidentally, the British air ministry reported 140 German planes were "definitely destroyed" and 140 others "probably destroyed" in the past two days of intensive raiding.
The air ministry announced that the R. A. F.'s spectacular sortie into Italy caused "heavy damage" to aircraft factories at Milan and Turin.
1,200 Mile Flight
At least 30 British planes were believed to have engaged in the attack, the first big smash at Italian cities since the war began—in a flight that carried them more than 1,200 miles round-trip from England.
The air ministry said all returned safely, except one, which made a forced landing a few miles from the English coast. Its crew was rescued.
Berlin reported that British planes were forced to the region of Potsdam, 20 miles west of Berlin, but were turned back by anti-aircraft fire before they could reach the capital.
Air-raid warnings sent Berlin residents bounding from bed to the safety of air-raid shelters however, and residents of the capital's suburbs said they heard the sound of distant gun-fire.
The R. A. F. raids in Italy left their sting at Milan, Turin, Alexandria and Tortona, all industrial centers in northern Italy. Augusta, in Sicily, also was bombed.
Biggest Assault of War
German bombers returned to the attack on England during the night and morning, blasting at the great industrial midlands for several hours in the biggest assault there of the war.
On edge for an imminently expected land invasion, Britons experienced a mild alarm over reports that 11 German paratroopers landed in the midlands during the night and that seven of them were captured.

Leads Italians In Somaliland

Aviation experts discounted the report, saying the parachutes found were not the type used by Nazi "chutist" troops in Holland, Belgium and France. They expressed belief that the "chutes" belonged to German aviators shot down by R. A. F. fighters.
In yesterday's air war the British listed 78 raiders shot down and 13 British planes lost, making the totals for last Thursday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday: 265 German planes to 68 British.
The Germans reported 132 British planes downed to 28 German, with totals for the four days 363 British planes to 79 German.
Intense heat which may not let up until late August or early September still militated against any Italian attack from Libya into Egypt but Italians said their invading columns had pierced to within 50 miles of Berbera, key to British Somaliland.
Diplomatic Developments
Admiral Charles Hart, commander of the U. S. Asiatic fleet, arrived by submarine today at Shanghai to take a hand in the troubled affairs of the International Settlement from which British troops are to be withdrawn.
Although Admiral Hart was not expected to attend a scheduled meeting of the foreign defense council tomorrow, his presence was viewed as strengthening the hand of American officials who, it was understood, would oppose Japanese demands for control of the British sector.
In Rome, the Italian press hinted that the Greek island of Corfu and the entire Adriatic seacoast might be claimed by Italy as a "patriot" allegedly by two Greeks.
This development followed accusations by Italian spokesmen that Greece has territorial designs on Albania, which Italy annexed in 1939.
EXTRADITION AUTHORIZED
Springfield, Ill., Aug. 14—(AP)—The governor's office today authorized the extradition of Golden Bell, alias Charles P. Sims, who is being held by Elmhurst police, to face a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses at Akron, O.

desert her. The couple were married at Chattahoochee, Ala., Sept. 15, 1930. Judge Harry Wheat yesterday afternoon granted a divorce to Helen Cochran of Dixon, who charged in her action that Clarence Cochran was guilty of extreme and repeated cruelty. The couple were married in Dixon, June 23, 1935.
AT STARVED ROCK
Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for governor, and C. Wayland Brooks, nominee for the United States senate, will be the principal speakers at the annual LaSalle county Republican rally at Starved Rock state park tomorrow evening. Speakers will be presented at 8 o'clock. Other state candidates will also be present, and it is expected that last year's attendance record of 20,000 will be surpassed.
FARM DEMONSTRATION
Nearly 200 farmers attended the Illinois Northern Utilities Co. demonstration on the Fassler farm, south of Dixon on U. S. route 30, Tuesday afternoon, and at 1 o'clock this afternoon indications were that the attendance today—the last day of the exhibit—would exceed that number. Everything electrical for the farm home, barns, sheds, etc., was shown in operation during the demonstration, and refreshments were served visitors by the company.
CALLS COMMITTEE
County Superintendent of Highways Fred W. Leake today issued a call to the Lee county road and bridge committee to meet at the court house Friday morning at 10 o'clock to discuss the proposed county program to absorb WPA labor which is to be adopted at the regular September meeting of the board. Supervisors of the several townships have been invited to attend the meeting and offer suggestions to be embodied in the proposed program. Superintendent Leake stated today that under the present county WPA program about 100 men were being employed, 35 of this number working at the Dixon state hospital. The proposed program is planned to provide employment for 300 workers.
Complaint in Chancery
William K. Wickey, Jr., of this city by his father, William O. Wickey, today filed a complaint in chancery in Lee County Circuit court against Alice B. Welty administratrix of the estate of Samuel W. Brimblecom, deceased, of Woosung, whose death occurred Aug. 21, 1929. The complaint, which was filed by Warner & Warner, sets forth that in the Brimblecom will the plaintiff was left a sum of $500, which was to be held in trust until he attained the age of 27 years when he was to receive the amount plus the interest. The action seeks the appointment by the court of William O. Wickey to serve as trustee and a request that the administratrix be directed to pay the sum of the bequest and interest to the trustee.
CLASH IN DENMARK
London, Aug. 14—(AP)—Reuters (British news agency) said today the Copenhagen radio broadcast a report that Danish civilians and German soldiers clashed August 3 at Frederiks-haven, Denmark, and as a result, eight men were arrested and were sentenced today to prison terms.

Evokes Memories Of Glamor Star

Memories of one of the screen's most glamorous stars were evoked by Helen Dalzell, of Washington, pictured as she recently arrived in New York after 18 months in Rio de Janeiro. In Hollywood, she served as the "double" for the late Jean Harlow.

Recruiting Station Here Second in State

Outside Cook County
Lee and adjoining counties have sent a large number of recruits into the various branches of the United States Army recently, and considering the activity at the local recruiting station at the Chamber of Commerce building, the proposed national conscription bill would not be necessary in this community.
Lieut. S. F. Steib and Sergeant A. A. Piergalski, in charge of the Dixon station, will send another group of recruits to Chicago Thursday morning, where they will be assigned to duty in several branches of the Army service. With the latest class of recruits, the Dixon station will have enlisted a total of 65 men since the arrival of the present force of recruiting officers on June 5.
The Army recruiting records for last month place the Dixon station as second high in Illinois outside of Chicago, Rockford having exceeded the local office by four enlistments.
Lieut. Steib today announced receipt of new quotas in the Army service. The medical branch of the service offers 600 vacancies covering a wide scope of training in x-ray, laboratory technique and hospital procedure. Particular advantages are open to young men with high school or college educations. The Dixon station was also notified today that a quota of five enlistments had been allotted to this vicinity for colored young men to enlist in the 77th Coast artillery at Fort Bragg, South Carolina.

Local A. F. of L. and CIO Unions Reach Agreement

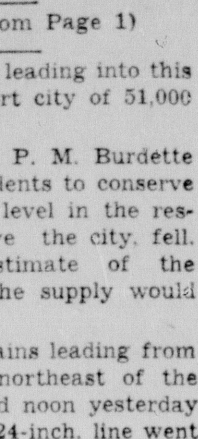

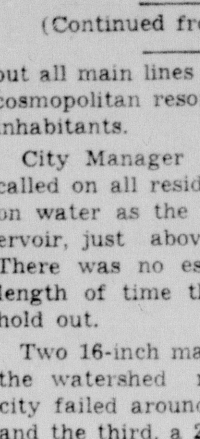

A working agreement between two Dixon labor organizations of the American Federation of Labor and one CIO organization was announced here today following a meeting of labor leaders. Bert McNamara of Sterling, of the Steel Workers organizing committee; Frank Lessner, representing the Chauffeurs & Helpers local No. 455 of this city; and C. J. Fox, secretary of the Building Trades Council and representing Operative Plasterers & Cement Finishers local No. 587, A. F. of L., Dixon, met in formulating the future working plan.
A statement given out for publication following the meeting was to the effect that a working agreement had been reached whereby a plan of cooperation of both the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. groups will work toward the end of preventing future labor difficulties in the Dixon-Sterling area, and to further the organization of both bodies, by bringing about a council of all labor organizations for the welfare of the respective communities.
The officials also announced a meeting to be held Monday evening, Aug. 19 when plans will be made for the observation of Labor Day in Dixon with a parade and program, plans for which will be announced later.

istic about reaching a vote before next week.
Once the Maloney proposal has been rejected or accepted, it was predicted the conscription bill would win final Senate approval, inasmuch as the Maloney compromise provides that registration go forward pending the showing made by a further trial of voluntary enlistments.
Senator Barkley told reporters he expected Burke-Wadsworth bill opponents to reach their peak strength on that ballot. In debate to date, anti-conscriptionists have argued that the army can get all the volunteers it needs, while proponents of the draft have maintained that the voluntary system was inadequate for the present emergency.
House Takes Up Guard Bill
While the Senate discussed the draft, the House opened consideration of Senate-approved legislation empowering the President to call out the National Guard and the regular army reservists for a year's active training. Leaders hoped to complete action in two days.
Delay, however, materialized for another item related to the defense program—the proposed excess profits tax. Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House ways and means committee said that because of technical difficulties in drafting the tax provisions, the bill would not be ready for the House floor before Monday. He added, however, that he expected House approval by the end of next week.
During the Senate session today a vote was scheduled on the proposal of Senator Lee (D-Okl.) to increase the army's $21-a-month basic pay to $30, to bring it into line with the navy scale. Little opposition was anticipated.
The name of Wendell Willkie was injected into the draft discussion last night by Senator Johnson (D-Colo.), who declared in a pencilled statement that the Republican presidential nominee held the fate of compulsory conscription "in the hollow of his hand."
A conscription foe, Johnson said a Willkie pronouncement against the draft in his acceptance speech next Saturday would make the subject a "dead issue."

Two Badly Injured In Collision This Noon

Two men, whose names were not known at press time, were reported to be in a critical condition in the Amboy city hospital this afternoon, victims of an automobile crash which occurred a few minutes before 12 o'clock on U. S. route 30 at the Pine Tree service station in Lee Center township about 15 miles southeast of Dixon. Two cars were reported to have been involved in the crash in which four adults and a baby were injured.
Meager reports indicated that one of the drivers turned sharply in front of another car which resulted in the collision. The injured were taken to the Amboy hospital where their injuries were being dressed and at the hospital it was reported that two men whose names had not been learned were seriously injured. State police who were summoned to the scene were conducting an investigation.

Local A. F. of L. and CIO Unions Reach Agreement

A working agreement between two Dixon labor organizations of the American Federation of Labor and one CIO organization was announced here today following a meeting of labor leaders. Bert McNamara of Sterling, of the Steel Workers organizing committee; Frank Lessner, representing the Chauffeurs & Helpers local No. 455 of this city; and C. J. Fox, secretary of the Building Trades Council and representing Operative Plasterers & Cement Finishers local No. 587, A. F. of L., Dixon, met in formulating the future working plan.
A statement given out for publication following the meeting was to the effect that a working agreement had been reached whereby a plan of cooperation of both the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. groups will work toward the end of preventing future labor difficulties in the Dixon-Sterling area, and to further the organization of both bodies, by bringing about a council of all labor organizations for the welfare of the respective communities.
The officials also announced a meeting to be held Monday evening, Aug. 19 when plans will be made for the observation of Labor Day in Dixon with a parade and program, plans for which will be announced later.

ONE DOWN, EIGHT TO GO

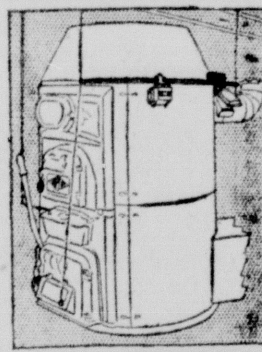

Hillsboro, Ore.—(AP)—"Poor Bobbie", mourned the Orval F. Jones family as they buried their favorite cat in the pasture.

Bobbie had been ailing for some time. Death was not unexpected.

A yellow cat just like Bobbie greeted them from the porch as they returned from the "funeral." The perplexed Joneses haven't decided whether Bobbie had a twin or merely exhausted one of his nine lives.

Grayson's Scoreboard

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

Detroit gets additional power in L. D. Meyer, the second baseman purchased from Knoxville.

Dutch Meyer is not the most brilliant infielder in the business but covers considerable ground and throws well despite the fact that he injured his arm in football.

Working with Dick Bartell when Charley Gehringer is out, Meyer should be okeh on double plays as the Tigers tear down the American League stretch.

Detroit is fortunate to pick up a player like Meyer at this stage. Jack Zeiler closed the deal after personally scouting the young man in Atlanta, and when he was unable to land an experienced major league infielder.

Like most Detroit athletes, the 24-year-old Meyer, nephew of Leo (Dutch) Meyer, the Texas Christian football coach, runs to punch. He batted .331 for Knoxville... led the Southern Association in total bases with 256, and in runs-batted-in with 96. He manufactured 22 home runs, nine triples, 19 doubles... 139 hits.

Pie Traynor, snooping around for the Pirates, watched Meyer for two weeks in spring practice... remarked that he had perfect batting form. He is a right-hand hitter.

Meyer, who stands 5 feet 10 1/2 inches and weighs 180 pounds, carries the same competitive spirit in professional baseball that he did as an all-around athlete at Texas Christian, where as an end he caught most of the passes thrown by the celebrated Sammy Baugh.

He married his college sweetheart more than a year ago, and is still very collegiate.

He is superstitious... raises his right foot and taps his heel with his right hand each time he goes to bat.

Meyer wasn't equipped to out Billy Herman when he reported to the Chicago Nationals upon graduation from Texas Christian in June, 1937.

The Cubs tried to make an outfielder of him, but were required to give him a bonus if he was retained after a certain date, and it was that clause in his contract which led to his outright release.

Last year with Knoxville, Meyer, a native of Waco, hit 31 doubles, two triples and nine home runs in compiling an average of .304. He drove in 66 runs.

Dutch Meyer is big and strong and tough... has fire and ambition... is on the upgrade.

Detroit may have something there.

TIGERS' CHANCES SEEM GONE WITH GEHRINGER LEGS

Detroit Now Two Games Behind Cleveland's Leading Indians

BY BILL WHITE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers, desperately trying to stay in the thick of the American league pennant fight, apparently are no stronger than Charlie Gehringer — and their peerless second-sacker is riding the bench at the moment.

The penant hopes of the Bengals are built around their infield, and the infield, for more years than the oldest native can recall, has been built around Gehringer.

But Charley's aging legs "ain't what they used to be". As a result the Tigers find themselves two full games back of the Cleveland Indians, and with a record of four straight losses. The second straight defeat by the Indians came yesterday, 6-5, as young Dutch Meyer, substituting for Gehringer, booted an infield smash in the ninth that allowed the winning run to score.

However, the cheering of some 16,128 Cleveland fans was drowned somewhat by the ominous rumble of the New York Yankees, who looked like the old gang again as they smashed the Boston Red Sox, 9-1 and 9-8. Marv Russo pitched five-hit ball to win the first one and Joe DeMaggio showed younger brother Dominic of the Sox who was who in the family by smacking out a total of six hits in the two games, including a pair of homers in the afterpiece, which was called by darkness in the seventh.

White Sox Win Again

The Chicago White Sox, thanks to Taft Wright's ninth-inning double that scored Luke Appling with the winning run, beat the Browns, 4-3, in spite of a revamped Brown lineup and Vern Kennedy's serious bid for his 10th victory of the year.

The Athletics bunched their hits effectively in the first and fifth innings—scoring three runs each time—to down the Senators, 6-3, in a night game. Dutch Leonard was touched for 13 blows, one more than Johnny Babich gave up.

The Cincinnati Reds managed to stave off the peppy Pittsburgh Pirates, largely through the efforts of Frank McCormick and the wisdom of the Buc hurriers. The Reds won, 4-3, when McCormick opened the ninth with a homer and then helped break the tie in the tenth with a single that put Linus Frey (who had walked) on third, from where he scored on Ival Goodman's right-field fly.

Cubs Lose Again

The Giants turned in the day's only "triple"—when they lost a game to the Boston Bees, 4-1, saw Harry Danning lose the batting lead to the Bees' Carvel Rowell and heard Manager Bill Terry lose a decision to Umpire George Magerkurth—and get chased for the third time in his eight years as manager. Jim Tonn got credit for the win, his second straight and the Bees' 11th in their past 15 starts.

The St. Louis Cardinals crept to within a half-game of the fifth-place Cubs when they beat Chicago, 5-1, behind Clyde Shoun's seven-hit hurling. The loss was the Cubs' fifth in six games and came on the wings of 11 blows that Larry French gave.

The Dodgers and Phils were rained out with Brooklyn leading, 3-0, at the end of the first inning.

Philosopher Jim Dykes Talks for Landstrom Today

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM

Chicago, Aug. 14—(AP)—Jimmy Dykes would be the last, no doubt, to call himself a philosopher.

His multitude of fans, likewise, might hesitate to allude to the scrappy manager of the Chicago White Sox as an exemplar of detachment, serenity and bland irony.

For Jimmy is ordinarily as gentle in his irony as a battery of howitzers cutting loose with full potency. But a lot of what he has to say, when you catch him in those relatively tranquil moments in the dressing room, is in the philosophic groove.

The White Sox boss considered the relationship of a sports hero to a volatile public:

Doesn't an athlete have to pay too heavy a price for success, he was asked, what with the disgruntlement, irascibility and harsh criticism of enthusiasts who take it as a personal affront when the home boys lose?

Dykes chomped his cigar, waved meditatively to Shortstop Luke Appling, and replied:

"When you get to be a success in any business you become a target for the critics. It's just that much worse in baseball, because in baseball, as in all sports, you're public property. After a while you come to expect the knocks and you learn to discount a lot of things that are said about you."

Players Can Take It

"Baseball players can take it. They aren't as temperamental as some people think. But a manager has got to know how to handle them. He's got to realize that they're all different, that he must study their likes and dislikes. You can't lump them all together and expect to get anywhere. Ball players are like a bunch of college and high school boys, always ready for fun. You can't tell what they'll do."

Dykes who has played every position but the catcher's in major league baseball, expressed some sturdy opinions concerning baseball and current crises. In his words:

"Baseball, along with other sports, made this country what it is. No other country owes so much to sports. We've got to have sports regardless of the emergency. We've got to have them as a safety valve, as morale builder and to keep men in physical trim."

Before the World War, Dykes found a berth with the Philadelphia Athletics. In the summer of 1918 he joined up with the medical corps.

Played in Army

He played baseball in the army and observed repeatedly its tonic effect upon the troops.

At 43 he is a champion of long-time participation in sports. "The majority of the great baseball players today are past 30," he said. "They are able to continue playing beyond the age when players used to retire because they take better care of themselves. That's good for the non-professionals, too. The men who lead sluggish lives get the idea that they should guard their health more carefully."

The Philadelphia-born sportsman played in the first All-Star game in 1933 and with the Athletics in the World Series of 1929, 1930 and 1931.

STREET GIVES FIGHTER HIS NAME FOR RING

Newark, N. J. (AP)—Tommy Adams light heavyweight who recently joined the professional ranks after winning the New Jersey amateur title, is really Thomas Dotegowski. Tommy picked his ring label from the name of his street. He lives at 3 Adams street.

James' Billiards Shut Out Tuesday Eve in Rock Falls

James Billiards were defeated last night at Rock Falls by the Rock Falls Merchants, 6 to 0. The Dixon team's bats were very feeble, as they gathered only five hits off Walt Deets. Deets held the Dixon team to singles and only one per inning, hits coming in the second, third, fourth, seventh and ninth. The Billiards didn't get a man past second base. Deets struck out nine men and didn't walk a man. Johnson on the mound for the locals allowed eight hits, walked two men and the boys committed four errors.

Lefty and Deets each struck out nine men. Rock Falls scored three runs in the third on three hits, two walks, and two passed balls by Murphy. They scored another in the fourth on a single by Gallentine, an error by Glessner and a double by Harry Bohms. Again in the sixth they scored two runs on singles by Zera and Gallentine and two more passed balls by Murphy. Rock Falls had only one earned run and that run would have been enough to win.

Boston Rookie Takes

National League Lead

Boston, Aug. 14—(AP)—A virtually "hopeless" rookie last spring Carvel "Bama" Rowell stayed in there swinging for the Boston Bees and today has the leading batter in the National League.

The amazing 24-year-old rookie from Citronelle, Ala., has a league leading mark of 330, two points better than the 328 of Harry Danning, New York Giant catcher and pace-setter since May 22.

The Batter from "Bama" took the batting lead under the eyes of the throne's former possessor, lacing out a solid single while "Harry the Horse" was horse-colored yesterday as the Bees took a 4-1 decision from the Giants.

"Bama" looked so terrible early this year that just about everyone gave up on him—everyone but Manager Casey Stengel.

"I knew I'd found myself a hitter the first time I saw him batting down in Florida," Casey said. "He's been my boy ever since but he had to slug his way to the top to convince anyone else."

Air travel for the month of April, 1940, was approximately 73.91 per cent higher than for the same month in 1939.

The humpbacked camel has a spinal column as straight as that of any other animal.

WORTH CROWING ABOUT... MARVELS Quality at a saving!

YESTERDAY'S STARS (By The Associated Press) Jim Tobin, Bees' Won second straight by limiting Giants to eight hits for 4-1 victory.

Frank McCormick, Reds — His homer and single were major factors in win over Pirates.

Clyde Shoun, Cardinals — His 7-hit pitching nipped Cubs.

Marv Russo and Joe Di Maggio, Yankees — Former's five hit pitching tamed Red Sox in opener and Joe's two homers in afterpiece paced Yanks win.

Ray Mack, Indians — His ninth inning single that ultimately was turned into a run beat the Tigers, 6-5.

Taft Wright, White Sox — His ninth-inning double gave the Sox a 4-3 edge over the Browns.

Johnny Babich, Athletics — Scattered a dozen Washington hits as the As won a night game, 6-3.

CHICKEN DINNER AND TWO GAMES AT W. BROOKLYN

Baseball Fans Will Get Real Entertainment at Lee Co. Village

Sunday at West Brooklyn St. Mary's parish will stage its annual chicken dinner and following the dinner there will be a treat for all base ball fans. In the first game, starting at 1 o'clock sharp, the old left hander Kay Knauer will toe the rubber and pitch the first ball to the lead off hitter of the Lee team. Knauer means a ball game and to show their appreciation the fans in this part of the country have given Knauer a big lead in the voting for the starting pitcher in the Illinois State League All Star game to be held in Dixon Sunday, Sept. 1.

In the second game of the double header Maytown will try to give the Dixon Knacks a trouncing such as they did in Dixon some time ago. These should be two good ball games.

The sports department of the Telegraph is thankful to the management of the West Brooklyn team for a letter this morning including the batting averages of the West Brooklyn team. It would be appreciated if the rest of the managers in the league would send in their teams' averages so the voting fans could see what the boys are doing around the league.

The West Brooklyn team's leading hitter is third baseman Ensminger, who has an average of .277, and he is followed by R. Kromm, 265; D. Kromm, 251; Michael, 250; Zinke, 244; Blee, 235; Knauer, 232; and Koehler, 168. Yesterday's mail brought in a large number of votes on the fans in and around Walton are sure getting behind their players. The count will be printed again next Tuesday and will be surprising to local fans.

BLENDED 33 TIMES TO MAKE ONE GREAT BEER

It takes 33 separate brews to make a single glass of Pabst Blue Ribbon!

YOU know it's blending that makes fine wines, coffee, and tobacco so good. And those who drink Blue Ribbon can tell you what blending does for beer!

Try a glass today, and enjoy your discovery of what beer flavor and beer smoothness can be!

In every glass of Blue Ribbon is a blend of not two, or five, or twelve... but 33 separate brews from 33 separate kettles.

Each brew is as fine as choicest ingredients and Pabst's 96 years of experience can make it. Then all 33 are brought together in perfect balance.

An expensive way to brew? Of course! But that's what makes Blue Ribbon America's premium beer, with a smoothness that is unique... and a goodness that never varies.

He Flies High When Traveling

H. W. Rohl, wealthy head of Los Angeles construction firm, is a high flier when it comes to traveling. He's pictured arriving at New York on one of several 21-passenger airlines on which he was the sole passenger, after flight from Pueblo, Colo., via Chicago and Washington. Total cost of his craving for solitude: $2,900.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"Soul" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 18.

The Golden Text was, "Come and hear, all ye that fear God, and I will declare what he hath done for my soul" (Psalms 66:10).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from him. He only is my defence; I shall not be moved. Trust in him at all times; ye people, pour out your heart before him: God is a refuge for us" (Psalms 62:5, 6, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Soul is the substance, life, and intelligence of man, which is individualized, but not in matter. Soul can never reflect anything inferior to itself" (p. 477).

solo by Lois Tarr; a demonstration on "Fitting a Pattern," by Corda Rogers and Joyce Cooke; and a piano solo by Muriel Smith. Jean Cooke sang "Alice Blue Gown" just before the girls modeled their dresses. After that was finished they served cup cakes and lemonade to all present. The project books and the girls pictures with their new dresses were displayed.

The club will model their dresses again at the county show on Aug. 15. At that time they will receive their ribbons for place awards. In all 19 girls have made dresses and have participated in the activities of their club this year. The community should be proud of the club and the prizes they have won in the county.

WASN'T TO BLAME

Oklahoma City—(AP)—It was quite a night in suburban Spencer. Came daylight, and you could look in almost any block and see a pair of trousers in the street pockets turned inside out.

In nearby houses men were trying to remember where they had left their trousers the night before. Then someone discovered there had been a crime wave.

In six instances homes were raided, trousers removed and left in yards or in the street, the valuables removed.

Losses ranged from 20 cents to $54.
